

Alliance for a Livable Los Angeles

Vision and Mission Statement

Imagine a Los Angeles where. . .

. . . all neighborhoods welcome people of diverse incomes, ethnicities, cultures, ages and abilities;

. . . streets are safe and teeming with the vitality of people talking, playing, going, and staying;

. . . rents and home prices are within reach of the people who live and work here;

. . . jobs pay a living wage;

. . . almost everyone can walk to a park near their home;

. . . getting around is easy whether you are walking, using a wheelchair, riding a bike, taking a bus or train, or driving;

. . . the air and water are clean;

. . . everyone, including low-income residents and renters, has an opportunity to participate in planning for our future.

The Alliance for a Livable Los Angeles believes that the city of our imagination can be ours. It can become a reality if we seek out fair, thoughtful, and holistic solutions that recognize our interdependence with nature and our neighbors, be they next door or across town.

The mission of the Alliance is to help make Los Angeles a better place to live for everyone by creating homes people can afford, transportation options, neighborhood parks, and public places.
